KING TUTANKHAMUN

Tutankhamun was born a Prince in Egypt's royal court around the year 1341 BC. He was only nine years old when he became Pharaoh in Ancient Egypt and only 18 years old when he died.

When Tutankhamun was seven years old, his father died. A few years later Tutankhamun married his sister (which was common for Pharaoh's in Ancient Egypt) and became Pharaoh. Since he was so young he had help ruling the country from a powerful general named Horemheb and Tutankhamun's vizier named Ay.

Archaeologists aren't sure what killed King Tutankhamun. Some people think that he was assassinated, but the likely cause of his death was a wound to his leg. Scientists have determined that the leg of his mummy was broken and badly infected before his death. This injury probably happened from an accident.

Due to his untimely death, the people were very rushed to build his tomb and it was very small compared to the tombs of other Pharaohs in the Valley of the Kings. Due to the fact that his tomb was so small, it was overlooked by archaeologists and robbers for thousands of years.

In 1922, a British archaeologist named Howard Carter entered King Tutankhamun's tomb. It was filled with treasure and artefacts unlike any found in other Pharaoh's tombs. Robbers might have been there before Carter because a bag of gold rings was found on the floor, as if dropped in haste. Thankfully they did not take everything because Carter and his team found many treasures inside, including a solid gold mask of King Tutankhamun's face.

What Is NAIDOC Week?

NAIDOC Week celebrates and honours Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and cultures. The week occurs annually in July, usually including the second Friday. This day was historically celebrated as 'National Aboriginal Day'. NAIDOC Week provides an opportunity for all Australian people to recognise the history and achievements of our First Nations peoples.

The acronym 'NAIDOC' originally stood for the National Aborigines and Islanders Day Observance Committee. In the past, this committee was responsible for organising events during NAIDOC Week. These days, NAIDOC has become the name of the week itself. The new name for the organising committee is the National NAIDOC Committee (NNC). The NNC makes important decisions about NAIDOC Week, such as choosing the annual theme, the focus city and the various competition and award winners.

Every year during NAIDOC Week, an awards ceremony is held in one of Australia's cities. The National NAIDOC Awards are an opportunity to celebrate the significant contributions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples across many fields of endeavour. The National NAIDOC Poster Competition is also held in the lead up to NAIDOC Week.

There are many ways you can celebrate NAIDOC Week in your community or at your school. You might like to:

- research the traditional owners of the land upon which you live
- write a biography of a notable First Nations Australian
- create a poster or artwork about this year's theme
- invite a local Elder to speak to your class about their culture
- visit a local historical site to learn about its significance
